BREED THEATER. ing Picture.

With the presentation of the above with the presentation of the above named picture, the patrons of Breed theater have one of the most entertaining pictures of the season. A quaintily beautiful love story is woven around the various incidents and finished action in the piece make it a picture long to be remembered as the ished action in the piece make it a picture long to be remembered, at the same time enlightening the public upon a subject that is most interesting. Many exquisite marine views are shown during the unfolding of the plot, thereby adding much to the realism of the picture.

The interesting and beautiful views of quaint old Norwich are being shown

The interesting and beautiful views of quaint old Norwich are being shown regularly, many of them being a revelation to both old and young. One of the greatest successes of the bill is the sweet old song, Roll on, Silv'ry Moon, as rendered by Madame Morelle, whose sweet voice and faultless performance have won for her a high whose sweet voice and faultiess per-formance have won for her a high standard of excellence. She also sings the delightful southern song of Nev-in's, entitled Mighty Lak a Rose, bringing out the subtle pathos of it, with her rich lower register. Mr. De-lancy is scoring big with the military song True Blue, and the artistic sides t accompany it are a pictorial feast, entire change of bill takes place Thursday, when extra strong attrac-tions will be offered. Other big pic-tures are The Little Drummer Boy Parted but United Again, Tommy's Own Invention, Summer Home for School Children, Butte Chaumont (sce-nic), The Smoking Lamp, and The Ir-

Chester Dutton was born March 24, 1814, in Connecticut, and traces his ancestry seven generations back to John Dutton, a Puritan who came to America in the early part of the seventeenth century, from whom descended many who took an active part in the earlier history of the country. His father was Daniel Punderson Dutton, a farmer, and a brother of Henry ton, a farmer, and a brother of Henry ton, a farmer, and a brother of Henry Dutton, ence governor of Connecticut and also a judge on the supreme bench of that state. Some of his ancestors on both sides of the house took an active part with the colonist in the Revolutionary war. Mr. Dut-ton was the oldest of eleven children and now is the only survivor.

PARK ADDITION Fifty Acres Bought by Case Brothers at Manchester.

An important sale of real estate was made in Manchester last week. Case Brothers, of Highland park secured possession of a fifty-acre tract of land adjoining their park on the east side and continuing to the top of the peak, from which Mt. Tom and many other high places in the state can easily be seen. The land was purchased from Thomas Daly of Bolton, who bought it from Dorsey Finley only two menths ago. It is the intention of the Case Brothers to convert the entire tract into a park and add it to the present large and naturally beautiful park. The park is maintained by Case Brothers is a large expense, and as long as the public shows its appreciation of the privilege of frequenting it by refraining from interfering with anything within the grounds, the members of the firm are willing to have people take advantage of the beauties of the park.

TOBACCO EXPERIMENTS At Suffield Will Be Given Up This Year by Government.

The bureau of plant industry at Washington, D. C., has decided to discontinue its experimental work in to-bacco this year in Suffield. The government has done considerable good in the past two years in this experiment work, especially in the different kinds of fertilizers and the discases that exist in the tobacco fields. The action of the government authorities is greatly regretted by the Suffield is greatly regretted by the Suffield farmers, yet there will be several acres of the new Halladay type of the Cooley hybrid raised there this year, while others will cling to the broad leaf and the Havana seed.

The Bavarian postal service, after thirty years' experience, certifies that the known average life of impregnated poles in Bavaria is seventeen and a hair years, and the German imperial administration calculated in 1993 that the known average life of such poles was 15.03 years. In the meantime the work of impregnation is being perfectly performed, so that future statistics will show much better results.

Satisfied With Dingley Rates.

It begins to look suspiciously as though congress were getting ready to line up on the basis of the old Dingley duties. We see what has happened in regard to the glove and stocking duties. They were greatly increased by the house of representatives and it was Chester Dutton, '38, Yale's oldest

HOME GARMENT MAKING. The Bulletin's Pattern Service.

LADIES' SACK APRON. Pattern No. 2898 - All Seams Allowed.

Made up in green and white checked gingham, this all-cover apron is both useful and attractive, affording complete protection to the dress. The lower edge is snished with a wide hem and the back closes from the top to below the wasts line with small pearl buttons. The narrow belt which holds in the fullness of the back is of the material, held in place by a small pearl button, and the long sleeves are gathered into narrow wristbands of the material. The neck is cut out in a shallow oval, or made high, and imished with a turndown collar. An oval pocket trims either side of the front and the stitching is all done with green cotton.

the pattern is in four sixes—32, 26, 40 and 44 inches, bust measure. For 36 bust the apron requires 5% yards of material 2; inches wide or 5 yards 36 inches wide.

Frice of pattern, 10 cents.

IN THE JUNGLE NEAR MOMBASA.

Oh! there's moving in Mombasa, in the Jungle, in the fen:
Oh! there's moving in the treetop, there's moving in the den.
The elophants are tramping, and the bushback and the bongo.
With the koedoo and the gerennk, are making for the Congo.
"For shame, you hippopotamus" the 'scaping lion roars.
"To quit your threatened country when the koedoe and the gerennk, are making for the Congo.
"For shame, you hippopotamus" the 'scaping lion roars.
"To quit your threatened country when the can shoot me when he sees me, but it's not the same with you?
"Yes, I'm going," says the hippo, 'for I may be one of two."
"For shame, you striped sebra!" the leaping leopard cries.
"Protected by two licenses. I'm vermin in his eyes."
But the zebra and the waterbuck, the topl and the sable.
Are picking up their petricoats and going while they're able.
"Stay, buffaio,' the warthog pleads: "the country is in danger."
"Just one of me? And yot I fee? By nature I'm a ranger."
"Its one of me? And yot I fee? By nature I'm a ranger."
"Eland, you're safe. Roan antelope, Pall have gone in hiding.
